Triathlon South Australia Appoints First Female President

On September 6th 2010 Triathlon South Australia elected a new board of directors. The Board's first task was to elect those nominated directors into positions.

For the first time in Triathlon South Australia's history (or as far back as corporate memory can remember) a female has been elected as President.

Triathlon South Australia is happy to announce that corporate lawyer and mother of three Mary Mitchell is the new President.

Mary brings to the position 25+years experience in general practice, commercial and corporate consultancy and litigation, and considerable board experience gained from sitting on numerous commercial and not for profit organisations. She has been involved in triathlon for 20 years and is currently training hard to take on her 2nd Ironman Hawaii event. This will be Mary's lucky 7th Ironman.

To back Mary in this position is new Vice President Rosalind Weaver. Rosalind has 35 years experience as a PA and is currently the Executive Officer of National Seniors SA/NT. She has been competing in triathlons for 17 years.
